

The diagram illustrates a printing layout with various lines and dimensions. A horizontal blue line with arrows at both ends spans the width of the page. Two vertical green lines are positioned on the left side, with arrows pointing towards them from the text below. Two diagonal grey lines with arrows at their ends point towards the top of the page, originating from the text above. The layout is divided into several rectangular sections by these lines. Text labels explain the function of each line: the red line is the cut line, the blue line is the safety line, and the green lines are the fold lines. Dimensions for the finished size and with bleed are provided in the bottom right corner.
