

The diagram illustrates the layout for a book spread. It features a central gutter where two pages meet. A horizontal blue line runs across the gutter, representing the safety line. Two vertical green lines are positioned on either side of the gutter, representing the fold lines. Two diagonal red lines extend from the top of the gutter, representing the cut lines. Arrows point from the text labels to their respective lines. The background is a light gray with a large, faint watermark of the word 'DESIGN'.
